

Video Transcript – Kayla Daniels Talks About Working From Home

My name is Kayla Daniels and I am a senior assurance accountant. I have been with CK for almost four months. We've maintained really great communication with people who work from home. I also work from home part-time, so I've experienced that firsthand where it's really easy, we have the resources in place to just jump on a video call. People are always available via their phone or cell phone. Honestly working from home doesn't feel that much different in terms of, just the lines of communication that we have and they're so open and available.
